Historic assets are vital assets which support economic development, community revitalization, education and civic pride while contributing to the character of the community. It is critical to create a strategy of preservation for Washington Street to support its unique character and charm. These buildings tell stories of Cannelton's early years and of those who helped establish the city, build its economy and nurture its culture. Understanding financial hurdles exist for many of the property owners, it is beneficial to both the City and the property owners to assist them in overcoming those challenges to build a vibrant and active area. Cannelton is registered as a federal historic district which allows for rural areas to preserve their character through historic preservation programs such as the Main Street Program, a recent designation achieved by the Renew Cannelton on behalf of the city. The overall objective should be to keep properties and places of historic and cultural value in active use, accommodating appropriate improvements to sustain their viability while maintaining the key character-defining features which contribute to their significance as cultural resources.
