American Institute of Architects Recommendations

Cannelton is a city with great bones, a walkable downtown, a rare authenticity and historic character, amazing buildings, a walkable street grid, access to and along the Ohio River, affordable real estate, redevelopment opportunities at Can Clay and other sites, opportunities, easy access, regional recreation anchors, and a strong sense of community. There are abundant recreation resources in and near Cannelton; resources that can serve local needs and attract new residents, investment, visitors, and visitor spending. Short term low cost and longer term more complex improvements can literally put Cannelton on the map. The payback from these investments is new spending and visitation, strengthening downtown Cannelton and the Can Clay redevelopment.
